Dear Harold,

A bird whispered in my right ear
you had published or had had published another volume in your Whitewash series.
I was happy to hear it.

Will you send me two copies, please?
If you trust me send the copies with a bill and I'll remit at once because I know from your letters you are in need of money. If you don't trust me send me a bill or write me a note with the price and I'll remit promptly to speed delivery of the books.
Have you read Cyril Wecht's latest?

Expectantly
